

Jussi Manninen, Principal Scientist, VTT Technical Research Centre of Finland, Finland

Jussi Manninen is the program manager of Bioeconomy Transformation program at VTT, which aims at developing new products and technologies to support the transition of Finnish pulp and paper, food and technology industries. He is the secretary of the Finnish Bioeconomy Task Force, which is responsible for the national bioeconomy strategy for Finland. He is active in national and international R&D networks in the fields of bioeconomy and resource efficiency.

Jussi graduated from Helsinki University of Technology in Mechanical Engineering and holds a PhD from University of Manchester Institute of Science and Technology (UMIST) in Process Integration. He joined VTT in 1999, and has held various research and managerial positions at VTT.